"This is a 12 page document. The reason for this is because we're in the year 2012 and as much as we'd have liked it to be 2012 pages; we are trying to be greener!

Rotherham is a town (check online if you don't believe us) and we believe that our policies are fair and easy to implement- I wonder why they haven't been put forward before?

Join us on the 3rd May to vote for insanity, you know it makes sense!"

Economy

Our local economy is of paramount importance. We suggest that we tell our friends in neighbouring towns and cities that we've got "stacks of cash" so investors will flock to our town.

Also, as our national manicfesto states, we would like to introduce a 99p coin.

Transport

Nobody likes being late, and we all hate it when buses turn up late.

We would like to see the introduction of a bucket of water and sponge on all buses. Any passenger who is annoyed with the lateness of a bus may chuck a wet sponge at the driver once and once only. We don't want bus drivers getting a cold, that's just heartless and cruel!

If you turn up to a bus stop just as the bus is leaving, then fold your arms and refuse to catch the next bus to show your annoyance and defiance- that'll teach them!

Environment

The environment is so important and the one way we can do our bit is to invest in snow machines and outside air conditioning to cool the planet down (If you get cold during this process, just stick another jacket on! Do we have to think of everything?)

In addition, we should place potted plants on cracked pavements so our streets don't look unsightly.

Education

We think that the spelling of school should be changed to its phonetic spelling 'skool'- not only does it make it easier to spell, it gives the impression that we're down with the kids. Brap!

We are also unhappy with A-Levels. Why don't we introduce B-Levels or C-Levels? It's a bit unfair to call them A-Levels.

Reform

Since everyone seems to be in disagreement over the House of Lords, we've got a better idea. We ought to scrap the House of Lords altogether and replace it with a House of Cards. Much cheaper and efficient- everyone's a winner (except the current peers, but you can't please everyone)

Also, a pound doesn't get you much these days. So we propose the introduction of '50pLand', you could get two light bulbs for 50p- bargain!

Instead of electing our MPs by ballot, why don't they just face off in a karaoke competition and the winner becomes MP?

Paper Cuts

The most important policy for Rotherham in 2012 is the scourge that is more commonly known as the paper cut.

Paper cuts are heinous, distressing and completely unwelcome in our town. We suggest that any square or rectangular shaped paper is outlawed and the only paper allowed to be sold should be circle shaped. (This would also help people who find it hard to draw circles)

If we see any pointy edged paper, we should give it the cold shoulder and refuse to acknowledge it. Paper cuts- get out and stay out!

Insects and Creepy-Crawlies

For some odd reason, when people see spiders or creepy crawlies, they are inclined to scream. We understand one can be startled, but there's no need to perforate the poor spider's eardrums.

We would like to introduce little houses across the country to accommodate these creepy crawlies. Instead of screaming and shouting, just tell them you want them to leave the premises, and they'll walk out of their own volition...when they feel like it.

We hope you found our manicfesto informative and helpful.

We would like to add more policies for Rotherham, but it is night time now.
